DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-14, 16 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) for being unpatentable over Chern et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,150,223) in view of Laxman et al. (U.S. Patent No. 5,976,991), as previously applied.
2. Claims 15, 18 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) for being unpatentable over Chern '223 and Laxman '991 as applied to claims 11 and 17 above, and further in view of Miles (U.S. Patent No. 6,233,597), as previously applied.

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed April 4, 2002 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Regarding the drawings:

Applicant affirmed that the furnace is well known thus, the drawings showing a furnace are not necessary.

Claim Rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103.

2. In response to applicant's argument that the examiner's conclusion of obviousness is based upon improper hindsight reasoning, it must be recognized that any judgment on obviousness is in a sense necessarily a reconstruction based upon hindsight reasoning. But so long as it takes into account only knowledge which was within the level of ordinary skill at the time the claimed invention was made, and does not include knowledge gleaned only from the applicant's disclosure, such a reconstruction is proper. See In re McLaughlin, 443 F.2d 1392, 170 USPQ 209 (CCPA 1971).

The most important aspect of the invention is forming three different layers using one source gas, namely BTBAS, for all three layers (See page 6).

Laxman clearly teaches a single source gas, namely BTBAS, are known to be used to form many different layers in-situ by changing reactants.

Further, the motivation to combine is crystal clear, to avoid Si-C bonds and reducing carbon contamination of the resultant film. One having ordinary skill in the art should have known the effect of carbon contamination in a semiconductor device.

The combination of the references clearly renders the claims obvious. The rejection of claims 1 and 11 and the dependent claims thereof, are therefore, maintained.

The similar also applied to claims 15, 18 and 19 over Chern '223 and Laxman '991 and further in view of Miles '597.

Conclusion

3. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
